Boston, Mass. -- 25X1A [REDACTED] Inspector, CIA, will be graduated May 13 from the 49th session of the Advanced Management Program conducted by the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. This session began February 14.

Coming from every continent, 160 business executives, government and military leaders participated in the 13-week program preparing mature administrators to assume the responsibilities of top management in the business or public organizations that sponsored them. The men represented 29 states, Washington, D.C., Canada, and 24 men from 11 overseas countries. The Federal government was represented by 14 ranking officers of the military services and six managers of civilian agencies.

Since its inception in 1943, almost 6,000 men and women have participated in the AMP, the nation's oldest senior management development program conducted by a university.
